Content and Language Integrated Learning

The Course

This module will raise your practical and theoretical awareness of CLIL educational contexts.

You will explore key principles in CLIL and their application to teaching practice. You will have opportunities to investigate at least one specified CLIL context, to create CLIL teaching and learning materials and design a CLIL training course with accompanying materials.

Contents

- The range of educational contexts which make up the field of CLIL; how to define what constitutes a CLIL context
- The theoretical domains of language education and learning which contribute to an understanding of CLIL
- How to describe the language used in subject materials and in the classroom teaching of subjects
- How to use techniques for investigating subject and classroom language
- A range of approaches to, and methodologies for, teaching CLIL
- The range of tasks used in integrating content and language and how to design such tasks
- The factors determining the construction of assessment procedures in CLIL; how to design assessment procedures for a specific CLIL context

Digital Platform

The course has a digital learning platform. This gives you access to the materials and the opportunity to share ideas with others while on the course and after you leave.

Certification

Your end-of-course NILE certificate details the areas covered on your course. It comes with recommendations for sharing what you have learnt and implementing your action plan at your institution.

Trainer: Phillip Ball

Phil is a CLIL materials writer and teacher-trainer and has been closely involved with the award-winning Basque project, 'Eleanitz'. He has been involved in several European-based CLIL projects, and has written a wide variety of CLIL-based textbooks for the Basque and Spanish social science and English language programmes. He co-designed the new 'CLIL Essentials' online course for the British Council, is the co-author of 'Putting CLIL into Practice' (OUP 2015) and his CLIL textbook series for the Basque curriculum was nominated for the ELTons Innovation Award in 2016.
